

How to use Picrin

FOR “DRY-SIDE” SPOTTING

Use Picrin to help remove these and other stains:

adhesives	mascara
asphalt	nail polish
crayon	oil
grease	paint
inks	shoe polish
lipstick	tar
	varnish

To begin removal of these and other stains, first place a towel or cheesecloth under the stain, flush the stained area with Picrin while vacuuming the staining material into the towel or cheesecloth. Continue this process until stain is removed or no additional dye can be removed. Apply Pyratex® oily-type dry spotter, and continue working the stain. Do not flush with water or steam. Rinse with Picrin until the stain is gone. Dry thoroughly with the spotting gun and then machine clean promptly.

FOR TOUCH-UP SPOTTING

Remove pick-up soil, finger marks, smudges, oil, and grease from fabrics when re-cleaning is to be avoided.

1. Apply Picrin to cheesecloth or tip of clean, dry spotting brush.
2. Remove the stain by rubbing lightly with cheesecloth or tamping with the spotting brush.
3. Feather the area with cheesecloth dampened with Picrin, spreading and thinning the edge of the dampened area to avoid the formation of a ring. To dry the area more quickly, use the vacuum area of the spotting board.

FOR MYSTERY STAINS

Many stains contain both oil-soluble and water-soluble components, and often cannot be easily identified. To remove these stains quickly and easily, combine two parts Streetex and one part Picrin in a spotting bottle. Apply this versatile 2-1 Formula to dirty collars, cuffs, hemlines, heavily soiled areas of rainwear, and to unidentified stains. 2-1 Formula is also especially effective in the removal of latex paint stains.
